

POINTERS FOR WRITING ENTHUSIASTS

*With Andrea Doering, Executive Editor,
Revell Division of Baker Publishing Group*

Whether you write for personal exploration, to record family memories, or want to pursue publishing your work, there are practices and resources that can help you do your best work. During this interactive session we'll discuss how to narrow your scope, get into the writing habit, and dispel some myths about the creative process, as well as go over basic publishing practices. Feel free to bring your questions, curiosity and passion, as Andrea helps us navigate some of the essential pointers for great writing.

Andrea is senior acquisition editor with Revell Books, an imprint of Baker Publishing Group. She is the former editor-in-chief of Crossings Book Club. Her experiences also include academic publishing and book packaging. She holds an M.A. in English/Creative Writing from the University of Maine, and has published several children's books and short stories.
